Discussion	Awards to RHPPs have been requested and distributed; three have been finalized and three more are being processed. Amanda Perkins will be in touch with any follow-up questions. SOW meeting for centers will be held in Payson on August 30, 2023. This is the initial step for 23-24 contracts; agendas have been distributed. Please complete the Qualtrics survey if you are attending this meeting. We have achieved 40% of AHEC Scholar recruitment. Currently 30 applicants have been accepted of the required 75 scholars for the year. 2023-2024 Center &amp; RHPP Dashboards are available. If you have any questions, please respond to Marni Valenzuela’s email. The new association process rolled out with the new reporting year and has been operating successfully. Satisfaction surveys were sent to both Scholar cohorts. Response rates included 23% for 21-23 cohort and 21% for the 22-24 cohort. Recommendations that could improve the program include: better guidance by faculty mentors, better defined outlines of tasks, immersion more focused on helping the community directly, additional seminar topics, and more. Most beneficial include: interprofessional nature of the program, immersion, collaboration, being able to help medically underserved communities, and more. All findings are part of the larger report that were previously distributed to Centers and RHPPs. AHEC is required to submit an annual State Report to the Governor and AZ State Legislature about AHEC funded program activities for the prior year. Centers and RHPPs should write their own excerpts highlighting your program activities. Please submit by September 4, 2023. Meeting	Welcome	Leila Barraza
Discussion	The Arizona Rural Health Conference will be held in Flagstaff with pre-conference activities beginning June 3, 2024, and conference sessions June 4-5. In lieu of center presentations, Centers will join in an AHEC Scholars Presentation. The Program Office is collaborating with SAAHEC and CAAHEC for a CME presentation designed for preceptors as a pre-conference event on June 3. Evaluation details have been shared via e-mail with Centers and RHPP Directors related to the following evaluation topics: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Developmental evaluation activities allow review of programs on an ongoing basis. This evaluation practice allows adjustments to be made based on feedback for programs, including ASP and RHPP, on a regular basis.</li> <li>• Monitoring of program and activities allows documentation of program effects and satisfaction. This includes data collection for field experiences, for which automated surveys are sent to students if the field experience is documented in Salesforce within three days of the start date. Students are not invited to participate in evaluations if the rotation was not entered in a timely manner.</li> </ul> Jennifer Smith noted that some CBET training is organized by a community partner, and financial support is subsequently requested of and provided by CERE. In this case, CBET is not known within the three day window and would result in no survey being generated. Centers and RHPPs have successfully entered all activities that occurred from 7/1-12/31 into Salesforce for the annual Mid-Year Assessment. Outcome reports based on findings will be distributed shortly. Findings have shown the enhanced documentation of associated rotations process launched this summer has been successful. As a reminder, for this process to run smoothly, all RHPPs should enter 1) projected rotations into Salesforce within three days of the start date, and associate any regional center involvement, and 2) confirm the rotation within thirty days of the end date. Regional Centers who cannot find a RHPP rotation they are associated with must wait at least four days from the start date of a rotation before entering directly into Salesforce. A refresher video on the enhanced rotations process is available on AzaHEC's website.	Jennifer Zuniga Sonia Cota-Robles Jennifer Smith Marni Valenzuela

	CAAHEC AHEC Scholars Spring Immersion for Year2 will be held January 20-21, 2024. All other Spring immersions are scheduled for February 3-4, 2024. Spring Immersion information can be found in box. Spring immersion details have been distributed multiple times since December 21, 2023. Centers are asked to send Spring Immersion agendas to Nicole, nparedes@arizona.edu, by Friday, January 19, 2024. RHPP Interprofessional Conference will be held virtually on April 12-13, 2024. <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Planning Committee Meeting: The first planning committee meeting is scheduled for January 18th at 1pm via zoom. Invitations were sent via email from Marni Valenzuela to all Center and RHPP directors. Those unable to attend may share any ideas with the planning committee via the following Qualtrics form. Meeting highlights will be distributed after the meeting.</li><li>• Posters and Poster Videos: Guidelines and the submission link have been previously distributed to Center/RHPP directors via email and are available on our website and D2L. Poster abstracts will not be collected this year. The submission deadline for Posters and Poster Videos is March 17, 2024.</li><li>• Satellite Locations: AzaHEC is offering the opportunity for RHPPs and Centers to host a satellite viewing location for the conference. This model has helped reduce travel for students who are out on rotations. RHPP/Center Directors can complete the following Qualtrics form by February 9, 2024 to share their plans.</li></ul>	Nicole Paredes  Jennifer Zuniga Nicole Paredes Marni Valenzuela

	AIH-AHEC presently only has a first-year cohort. A storm made some Scholars hesitant to travel. Scholars participated in cultural humility training with UArizona representatives who presented on working in tribal communities while acknowledging historic traumas that result in disparities. The cohort traveled to Sells, AZ, which coincided with an annual rodeo and fair. Scholars networked with local political figures and local organizations, and surveyed residents on what health care needs exist. The first-year immersion for CAAHEC took place in Apache Junction, and the second-year immersion took place in Prescott. The first-year immersion focused on learning about the Apache Junction community. Speakers presented on housing costs and associated issues. Scholars also studied how to grow fresh vegetables and had the opportunity to participate in gardening and distributing vegetables to those in need. The second-year immersion involved Scholars visiting a community fair and surveying the community regarding health insurance. Speakers presented on insurance availability and recommendations. Separating the first and second-year immersions into separate events was helpful. This year's WAHEC immersion began in Cocopah and focused on nutrition and recreation activities. Scholars held a nutrition and recreational activities fair for the community, and created and distributed a nutrition cheat sheet. Nutrition fair attendees were guided on creating a nutritious trail mix. The second step for the immersion involved the UArizona Extension, and scholars received a culinary medicine demonstration. Scholars were able to prepare meals while learning about ingredient nutrition. The third step for the immersion took place at the Crossroads Mission, where scholars learned about nutritional programs. Scholars also prepared and served dinner to the homeless population. The immersion concluded with a collaboration between first and second-year Scholars where they discussed what had been learned and how to put that into practice. The first and second-year SAAHEC immersions happened concurrently in Rio Rico and Nogales, AZ. Scholars learned about issues relevant to the community, with a focus on issues arising from proximity to the border. Mental health techniques with regards to burnout were presented. Scholars also toured a pharmacy and learned about challenges relating to border proximity. Scholars also toured the border. First-year Scholars worked on establishing a focus for intervention in their second year. The second-year Scholars worked on projects in Tucson, and a speaker highlighted poverty and prosperity initiatives. Attendance for CERE's immersion this year in Payson was good and involved a scavenger hunt with a theme that focused on rural and accessibility issues. Some items on the scavenger hunt list did not exist (i.e., a dialysis center, a sidewalk on Frontier St), which helped Scholars understand some of the issues that might arise in the community. Many Scholars learned to drive in the snow for the first time. Scholars also made progress on their papers and posters, and they are ready for the RHPP conference. Nicole thanks the Center partners for uploading the final agenda, pictures, media release forms, attendance, and stipend data for the immersions by the deadline. The pictures and immersion summaries show that the students had a meaningful experience in their assigned communities.	Tashina Machain Mallika Peddada Joena Ezroj Yolanda Perez Kenny Evans Nicole Paredes

The Program Office should be notified in case of any extended absences for an RHPP director. There will be no opportunity to request an increase in funding in the initial budget submittal. However, requests for mid-year increases may be considered based on successful performance and specific needs. If 2023/2024 student projections were not achieved or documented in Salesforce, there may be implications as a result. Please ensure all rotations are documented in Salesforce and are up-to-date and accurate. It is unnecessarily time consuming for the Program Office to make corrections or remove duplicate entries in Salesforce. Errors in Salesforce can lead to HRSA funding issues, which can have an impact on budgets. AHEC Scholar Information: The April seminar for AHEC Scholars is posted and is still a requirement for all scholars. Some scholars may believe that the RHPP conference was the final requirement, however the April seminar is still pending. After the April seminar, second-year Scholars will be done. An announcement will be posted on the year-two Scholar D2L page detailing how updated contact information can be submitted. Personal email addresses are preferred since some Scholars will lose access to university email addresses after graduation. This contact information will be used to distribute digital badges from national AHEC, which can be uploaded to LinkedIn profiles and social media. RHC Conference update: The registration form is being finalized for pre-Rural Health Conference sessions in June. Once complete, notification will be sent to all directors. There will be two sessions: a Graduate Medical Education session in the morning, and a Preceptor Development Training session in the afternoon. Registration will be separate from conference registration, and CME will be issued for the Preceptor Development Training session in the afternoon. There is no charge to attend, and participation is available in-person or remote. Lunch and a reception are available to in-person attendees.	Leila Barraza Leila Barraza Nicole Paredes Nicole Paredes Jennifer Zúñiga
